DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-36 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

- 2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:
 - Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.
- 3. Claims 1-18 and 36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.
- 4. MPEP Chapter 2106.01, Computer-Related Nonstatutory Subject Matter, defines the requirements for statutory subject matter under 35 U.S.C. 101.
- 5. Claim 1 is directed to a system comprises of a common hardware register pseudo-language and a specification component that specifies hardware functionality via the common hardware register pseudo-language. The pseudo-language and the specification component are descriptive material per se and are not statutory because they are not being used in any manner in the claim to cause functional change in the computer. The claimed system does not define any structural and functional interrelationships between the pseudo-language and the specification component, which permit the pseudo-language and specification component's functionality to be realized. Furthermore, the claimed system is not physical "things." It is neither computer components nor statutory processes, as they are not "acts" being performed.

6. Claim 36 is directed to a data packet. The data packet is descriptive material per se and is not statutory because it is not capable of causing functional change in the computer. The claimed data packet does not define any structural and functional interrelationships between the data packet and the computer processes, which permit the data packet's functionality to be realized. Furthermore, the claimed data packet is not physical "things." It is neither computer components

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 2-18 are objected to as being dependent upon the rejected base claim 1.

nor statutory processes, as they are not "acts" being performed.

8. Claims 19-35 allowed.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37
